From Career mode to multiplayer, this year's edition has everything waiting for all types of players. Of course, the popularity comes with the need to be good in the game. Do you feel like you're struggling to control your car? Have you forgotten where to turn and ended up flying a tire barrier? Don't worry, this practical and indispensable beginner's guide is covered somewhere. With this F1 Manager 2020 beginner's guide, you can also start racing. All it takes is patience and practice. Here are the basics of the 2020 strategy game to learn. Explore Controls One of the most important aspects of the gaming experience, settings can interrupt or break gameplay. While audio, video, and gameplay options fall under Optimization Tweaks, Controls, and on-screen settings, they definitely help you compete better. It's totally ok to race the default key bindings provided you learn what each key does. The most important features, the most important of which is that you use a keyboard, controller or racing wheel, accelerate, deceleration, Steering, DRS button, Overtake button and Multi-Function Display (MFD) button. You can also learn the Voice Command button that will help you cover most MFD tasks as well as give you a radio comps feel while racing. Speaking of graphics, we recommend tweaking the settings to a stable 30 FPS at least. Run Benchmark mode with the Monaco GP at night during heavy rain for the perfect estimate. This provides optimal performance without significantly compromising graphics. Finally, speaking of camera options, almost every YouTuber and esports player prefers the TV Sleeve cam or the Offset cam, which in all equity, works pretty well for the majority of players. But, the Cockpit cam is the way to get maximum realism and really feel the thrill of racing. We recommend that you view stage views cockpit camera field of view to 0.7. It is also important that to turn on the RearView Mirror setting. F1 Manager 2020 Assist Guide The revolutionary feature added to F1 2020 is casual handling mode. This handling feature is a boon to all controller and keyboard racers, allowing you to focus solely on competition and leave steering and track barriers, off-road driving, and other lousy-gavel mechanics in the hands of the AI. Once we've tried this mode, we can confirm that it helps amateur drivers and certainly gives pad users an advantage, but we still prefer the vanilla experience. It's still a cool feature to use nonetheless. We recommend that you keep the Dynamic Racing Line assist on at all time. Make sure it is set to 3D and the entire length, not just in corners. If you feel comfortable with your car and track, you can turn it off. F1 Manager 2020 Game Guide During the race, you can control the two drivers. The higher the rank of the pilots in the ranking, the more points they receive. You can control the speed of each car and decide when to go to the pit stop. However, the faster you drive, the more fuel they consume and the faster the tyres wear out. Refueling is prohibited during pit stop - so make sure you have enough fuel until the end of the race. Win conditions For each car that finishes the race get points. The higher your ranking, the more points you will receive at the end of the tournament. Your goal is to get more points than two cars from your opponent. This often means that it is not necessary to strive to be in the first and second place - to win enough to get more points than your opponent. Qualifying Qualifying takes place automatically after each race and determines the starting position of the opponent's cars and cars. It is always considered the fastest lap time of the specified driver and car. After qualifying, you can choose which tyres you want to use at the beginning of the race. Choosing tires in a race You can choose from three types of tires: Soft, Hard, Wet. Soft tyres are the fastest, but at the same time wear out quickly (that is, they have to call a pit lane earlier). Hard tires are slower, but they last longer. Wet tires are best in wet weather. These strategies can be equipped with the right combinations of car parts to obtain victory. Pit stops at Pit Stops, you can change the tires. There are three types of tyres to choose from: Soft, Hard, Wet. Also during pit stops, all parts that failed during the race are repaired. You can stop as much as you want in the pit stop, but it's important to remember that refueling is prohibited! It is important to calculate the fuel level correctly to make sure that the whole race is enough. First boxes There are four ways to make boxes: Crates supplies are awarded as rewards for winning the competition. Racing boxes can be obtained by collecting 100 racing points. A points that the two drivers will receive at the end of the race. A free box can be opened every 4 hours. Boxes boxes I bought it at the store. Guide to understanding the pilot strategies of F1 Manager 2020 Each pilot has 6 different strategies. Overtaking: Determines how many overtaking options the pilot project sees. The protection determines how effectively the pilot can prevent overtaking. Permanence A high level of permanence means that the pilot goes through laps around the same time and sticks well to the tape. These statistics also increase the chances of a quick start to the race. Fuel management A high level of fuel management reduces fuel consumption during races. Tyre management A high level of tyre handling reduces tyre wear during racing. Driving in the rain Improves the pilot's performance in wet weather. Components of component statistics have five statistics. They are: power: determines the maximum speed and acceleration of cars. Aero: Minimizes drag and improves speed in fast turns. Clutch: Improves the car's contact with the track and speed in slow turns. Reliability: Reduces the likelihood of component failure during the race. Average time at pit stops: Shows how much time cars spend on average on pit lanes. The shorter the time, the faster the stop. Guide to series and flags F1 Manager 2020 You can choose a competition in one of the seven series. At the beginning of the game, only series 1 will be unlocked. For every win in the tournament, you can get flags as a reward. The number of flags awarded per race depends on the series. For each series, the maximum number of flags available in the series is also available. Winning the race in a higher series will get a number of flags. However, if you lose, you will also lose flags. The number of flags required to resolve the series is shown in the panel of each series. The cost of participating in tournaments increases for each series – while the prize increases. In this F1 Manager 2020 guide, we'll cover all seven series with tips for you. The Seven Series Series 1 Tracks – Autodromo Nazionale Monza (Italy); Circuit Gilles Villeneuve (Canada); Hockenheimring (Germany) At the start of the game, you will not be able to use your two original drivers and starting parts. Your goal will be to target drivers who have good handling of fuel and tires. Like Norris, Perez, Grosjean, or at least Kvyat. Bottas and Giovinazzi should be saved later because Bottas has an epic card and Giovinazzi acquires 100% tire management only at level 9. In general, soft tires are better than hard tires. It is important to ride the green on the first lap to save fuel (and tires) and continue the red driving of the two drivers in the last 2 laps (or the last 3 depending on the fuel). Avoid stacking. (stacking is the fact that the 2 pilots are blocked at the same time into the pit). Even if the get stuck from time to time in the pit that doesn't matter. Try to place the drivers by highlighting the first of the red &t.&t.&t; sign and leave the second driver in green green wheel change. To minimize the risk of stacking, you can take turns stopping stops between pilots. For example: stop at 3-3-2 with Albon and 2-3-3 with Stroll. Series 2 Tracks – Circuit de Barcelona-Catalunya (Spain); Hungaroring (Hungary); Circuit Paul Ricard (France). Equip Kvyat as soon as you unlock it because it is faster in the last laps. Avoid series 3 because the strategy is different. Get all the flags from Series 2 and go to Series 4. As for Form 1, it essentially increases aerodynamics and speed. Series 3 Tracks – Silverstone Circuit (UK); Circuit de Spa-Francorchamps (Belgium); Red Bull Ring (Austria). Before starting this series, it is better to have improved the car and reduced the pit stop time to limit the risk of the stack. Use your pilots for the best stats in the rain. Upgrade your Norris, Perez, Grosjean drivers and continue to upgrade your car parts. Recommended components: Brakes: Soft Touch / The ChuteGearbox: The Shredder / Sync StarRear Spoiler: Wind TunnelFront Spoiler: The Turbulence / Laser Lock / The Roller Coaster Suspension: The ProfilerMotor: Zen / Free Wheeler. Series 4 Recommended pilots: Perez and Norris – Grosjean Series 4 is much heavier because cars can not run 3 laps soft due to high temperatures. If you get stuck, the best thing is to collect Race 2 race points and unlock Norris. Once equipped with Norris and Kvyat, you just need to collect the flags for series 4 and move on to series 5. Always have the same strategy, roll the first round of green in order to save money and roll red in the last 2 or 3 rounds. Strategy 3-3-2 in an 8-lap race (replacement of tires in laps 3 and 6). What is important is that article 6(1) should be a part of the directive. If you have a lot of gas, make the third round red and start 6. When it comes to the car, focus on aerodynamics and speed. The grip is useful, but secondary to this series. Recommended components: Brakes: Soft Touch / The ChuteGearbox: The Shredder / Sync StarRear Spoiler: Wind TunnelFront Spoiler: The Turbulence / Laser Lock / The Roller Coaster Suspension: The ProfilerMotor: Zen / Free Wheeler. Series 5 Tracks – Sochi Autodrom (Russia); Autodromo Hermanos Rodriguez (Mexico); Autodromo Joso Carlos Pace (Brazil). Recommended drivers: Grosjean and Norris. The first two pilots were selected for their great fuel management. Use the usual strategy 3-3-2. Roll green in the first round and roll red in the last 3 laps. You can also increase the amount of the 3. As far as your vehicle is concerned, give preference to aerodynamics. Recommended Components : Brakes: The ChuteGearbox: The Shredder / Sync StarRear Spoiler: Wind TunnelFront Spoiler: Laser Lock / The RollercoasterSuspension: The ProfilerMotor: Zen / Free Wheeler. Series 6 Tracks – Shanghai International Circuit (China); Melbourne Grand Prix Circuit (Australia); Suzuka International Racing Course (Japan). Recommended drivers: Grosjean and Perez – Bottas 4 and Perez. Due to the frequent rains in this series, it is interesting to favor strong pilots in wet weather. Perez has very good rain capacity and better tire management than Norris. In addition, he is the best driver of the Suzuka circuit. Shanghai and Melbourne follow the same strategy as Series 5 unless he uses Perez, who can only run two laps at a faster pace. The other option is to bottas from level 4 and Perez. Level 4. Bottas benefits from great regularity. Regularity allows for better results in qualifying and thus start the competition in better places. Bottas and Perez are starting the race in a good place, which compensates for Bottas' bottom results in the rain. When it comes to component development, you also need to focus on aerodynamics but balancing the grip a little bit will be important. Recommended Parts : Brakes: The ChuteGearbox: Sync StarRear Spoiler: Wind TunnelFront Spoiler: Laser Lock / The RollercoasterSuspension: The ProfilerMotor: Zen / Free Wheeler. Series 7 Tracks – Circuit de Monaco (Monaco); Baku City Circuit (Azerbaijan); Marina Bay Street Circuit (Singapore). Recommended drivers: Grosjean and PerezAlternative: Bottas 4. Perez and Grosjean's starting positions will be widespread, reducing the risk of chips. Monaco: use the 5-3 strategy. The last three laps on the red light. If the tyres and petrol allow, you can also make the 5. Baku: Use the 3-3-2 strategy. Marina Bay: Use strategy 4-3. The first 3 laps are red. Choosing components for the 7 series is more about traction. You have to balance the stats because the grip is more useful than before. Good speed, good grip and good aerodynamics. Recommended parts: Brakes: The ChuteGearbox: Sync StarRear spoiler: Wind TunnelFront spoiler: Laser Lock / The RollercoasterSuspension: The ProfilerMotor: Zen / Free Wheeler. Basic tips while playing F1 Manager 2020 Beware of the front corner at the beginning. Try to practice at low speed. Make sure it's smooth with the steering. Memorize the breaking point in each corner. Use drive assists for easier steering. The free boxes you pay according to the unlocked series, the higher you will win more. One free box every four hours and you can store two. Remember that coins and free boxes. The boxes also evolve, according to the series. The boxes of the race are endless! Score as many points as possible to earn gold and cards. These boxes will help you well at the beginning of the game because gold is required to play and improve your team.
